College Experiences at UVI Semester 2021

My name is XXX and I would like to share my college experiences at UVI to my viewers. I started college at UVI during the fall of 2019. When my classes were done in person, I was able to adapt to the university environment when I had my school schedule developed and paid for, settled in the dormitory, had my meals at the cafeteria, and attended my classes. There were some restrictions and imitations set on campus which were ground rules that had to be held on the ground. For example, there were limitations on how long the students had to do certain activities on in the dormitory halls or on the UVI fields, including at night. There were also restrictions of how long students were allowed to work and study in certain areas such as the UVI library. The UVI professors put time limit on how long my classes took on campus. As for the advantage of being on campus, I could catch up on study and work whenever I chose to. I could socialize in person with other students on campus, including my Classmates. For example, some of the students and I would gather around in a certain area to work on an assignment to prepare for a certain amount of time. That was a great benefit for being on campus in person, as oppose to doing virtual work online.

When classes was virtual and work had to be done online, I had to appear online in time for classes to join meetings and sessions for school. The restrictions and there are in doing virtual work is having cameras on and making sure that the students were muted on zoom or Microsoft teams while the professor was speaking. The benefit of doing work online, is that multiple research can be done online to get work accomplished and submitted to the teachers. The bad effect of working online includes loss of internet service and electricity. However, virtual online work can be a great experience all together. My future goals and expectations I want to achieve is to get a good music education to become a session musician. That is what I hope and pray for when I graduate from this school curriculum.
